

The Wheatsheaf
Friday 11th September 2026

Our Friday Lunch Group was out exploring again this month, this time heading to The Wheatsheaf at Woodhouse Eaves, a welcoming village pub tucked away on the edge of this lovely Leicestershire village, close to Quorn, Rothley, Swithland and Newtown Linford.

The menu offered plenty of familiar pub favourites, alongside their signature Woodhouse Smokies, a dish that has become something of a local legend; and, of course, there were some very tempting desserts for those who still had room!

The Wheatsheaf proved a good choice for a relaxed lunch and is certainly worth remembering if you are exploring this part of the county, whether for a weekday bite or a traditional Sunday lunch.

One of the pleasures of our Lunch Group is discovering somewhere different each month, and somehow our list of places to try just keeps on growing.

With autumn approaching and the final quarter of 2026 almost upon us, we're already looking ahead to our remaining lunches and beginning to plan another delicious year of discoveries for 2027.

Where will our lunch table take us next?
